

HISTORY

It all started as a Trading Post in the 1920s. During the Great Depression, owners Harry and Leone (aka “Mike”) Goulding saw an opportunity to bolster the local Navajo economy by bringing in movie production companies looking to film in the Southwest.

Harry met with director John Ford and the wheels were set in motion. The film Stagecoach started production in Monument Valley soon after.

Since then, Goulding's has hosted film crews, photographers, artists and tourists from around the world. The trading post has expanded to include a lodge, campsite, tour operation, restaurant, convenience store and private airstrip.

The LaFont family bought Goulding's Lodge in 1981 and continues to keep the amenities modern while honoring the rich American and Navajo history surrounded by iconic landmarks.

COME SEE US!

Goulding's Lodge is located in the heart of the Grand Circle - just north of the Arizona-Utah border and adjacent to the Navajo Tribal Park.

Part of the scenic Southwest, Monument Valley is within easy traveling distance to the Grand Canyon, Lake Powell, Canyon de Chelly, Natural Bridges, Mesa Verde, Arches, Canyonlands and Navajo National Monument.

RESORT

Enjoy endless Monument Valley views from a variety of lodging options, including contemporary rooms, spacious suites and detached villas. All accommodations include modern, resort-style amenities, along with private balconies or patios. Suites and villas also include separate living and dining areas, plus a kitchen or kitchenette.

Goulding's offers so much more than just a place to rest. Explore the sights along private hiking trails, just steps from the villas. Or book a tour at the Guest Services desk and discover the awe-inspiring structures that put Monument Valley on the map.

When the sun sets on exploration, relax and be entertained right on property. Feast on authentic southwestern and Navajo flavors in the Stagecoach Dining Room. Take a dip in the indoor pool or lounge on the sun deck. Commemorate your visit at the gift shop or pick up supplies at the on-site convenience store.

Then take a glimpse into the past at the Goulding's Trading Post Museum or catch your favorite Western in the Earth Spirit Theater. For those fly-in visits, a private airstrip is also available.
